King George Cuts Short His Holiday at Windsor: He Returns to London

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, April 11.—Anglo-Russian consultations were resumed today between Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, and Ivan Maisky, Russian ambassador, as a prelude to a special meeting of the inner cabinet to discuss the latest reports of German troop concentrations and of Italian moves in the Balkans.

ITALY PLEDGES INTEGRITY OF GREECE, CORFU

Great Britain Gives Assurance, Says Newspaper Reports

ATHENS, April 11.—Greek newspapers announced today "we are in position to assert that the Italian government gave to Greece categorical assurances" that it would respect the integrity of Greece, including the island of Corfu.

Editorial statements along this line were printed in morning newspapers as footnotes to reports from Berlin and Paris that Italy had assured Great Britain she had no intention of infringing on Greek territorial rights.

The mystery concerning British fleet movements in the Mediterranean deepened today when responsible Athens sources were unable to confirm reports that British warships were playing the waters off the island of Corfu.

Queen Suffers Soon Go To Egypt

Tirana Escape

ATHENS, April 11.—The presence in Greece of the deposed king, King George II, and his queen, Geraldine, is an unpleasant reminder to Greeks of Italy's latest aggression.

Queen Geraldine and her six-day-old baby Crown Prince, were resting at Larissa, on the Aegean coast, after their escape from Tirana over rough Balkan roads. The queen suffered from severe physical and mental shock from the jolting ride, and was under the care of two physicians and a nurse.

The royal party is expected to move on to Egypt as soon as the queen is able to travel.

FRANCE ACTS TO INCREASE ARMED UNITS

Will Be Ready To Meet Any Possible Moves By Germany

PARIS, April 11.—The government of Premier Edouard Daladier prepared for immediate action today to meet any possible military move by Germany and Italy following the latter's emergency into the Balkans at Tirana.

Armed with powers of secret diplomacy and secret mobilization, Premier Daladier was reported to have drawn up plans to increase French fighting forces.

1.—To prepare the French navy to co-operate fully with the British Army, when the British military leader arrived at Paris for a military conference. Previous announcements regarding Poland have assured the world that France and Britain will fight as one, and plans are now going forward to link the two fighting forces should war come.

Their Arms Are Linked Together

Europe Tense: War Or Peace Hangs On Nations' Diplomacy

By WEBB MILLER

British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

LONDON, April 11.—Europe stood tense guard today, fearing this may be the month—or week—or even the day of the long expected showdown on war or peace. In no capital was the gravity of the situation minimized. The atmosphere in Europe is more tense than at any time since Munich, and leaders everywhere realize that one mis-step, one slight incident in a world where everything stands ready for an incident to occur, may plunge Europe into another world war which will make its predecessor of 1914-1918 pale into insignificance.

Seeing to seize the initiative from the dictatorial bloc, Great Britain and France are acting in swift co-operation. All naval, air and army leaves have been cancelled by both countries.

Combined Fleet Massed At Adriatic

A combined British and French fleet is reported massing off the entrance to the Adriatic today while Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain seeks a last minute diplomatic deal with Benito Mussolini in the hope that war may yet be averted.

It is reported that the British prime minister is seeking an arrangement whereby Italy's occupation of Albania will be acceptable to the democratic powers. Such an arrangement would entail the Italian premier giving firm assurances against attacking Greece and promising to begin the withdrawal of Italian troops from Spain immediately.

Big News Is Expected On Thursday

It is believed in authoritative circles that if an agreement with Mussolini along those lines is found impossible of accomplishment, that Mr. Chamberlain will announce in the House of Commons on Thursday that his government is prepared to enter into a full mutual defensive alliance with Greece and Turkey. Rumania and Yugoslavia would also be taken into such an alliance.

It is further forecast that if no agreement is reached the British government will denounce the British-Italian friendship agreement.

Diplomats At Work Behind Scenes

But while diplomats work feverishly behind the scenes to stave off the conflict which some quarters believe to be inevitable, declaring it is not a matter of "if" but only of "when," the naval and military general staffs of Britain and France are working just as hard perfecting plans for any eventuality. Both fleets and both air arms have been put on full alert.

ROYAL VISIT TO CANADA, U. S., NOW IN DOUBT

LONDON, April 11.—As Prime Minister Chamberlain left his Downing Street residence today to call on King George at Buckingham Palace, the Associated Press reported "there were unconfirmed reports that the royal party's cancellation of their Majesty's projected visit to Canada and the United States next month."

Earlier in the day it had been said that despite the seriousness of the European situation there had been no suggestion that the trip might be cancelled. Preparations were said to be continuing in the normal way.

LONDON, April 11.—The battle cruiser Repulse on cruise prior to being assigned to the special duty of taking the King and Queen to Canada next month, remained at Gibraltar today, causing speculation that she was being held there to strengthen the Mediterranean fleet in view of the international situation.

Democracies Must Stop Dictators Now Meighen Declares

OTTAWA, Ont., April 11.—Mr. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader in the Senate, said in a dinner address here Monday night that the democracies "must stop the bullying dictators of Europe now, it may be too late a month from now."

Canada, said Senator Meighen, was "far too ready to be the Meuse doctrine and depend on a great nation to the south of us for protection. There are those who would like to say that what happens in Europe is of no interest to us simply because we might be a mere 2,000 miles away from hostilities."

BORRY DAY

"The day that Great Britain and France go down before the heel of a foreign dictator, it will be a sorry day for us and we can prepare to live under a form of government that will leave our hard-won freedom and heritage only a bitter memory."

"The United States realizes that if Britain and France should fall, it will be the might that is rampant in the world today, then she would live under the constant fear of war or actual invasion," he said.

"When Great Britain and France go down, three-quarters of the strength of democracy is gone, leaving only a quarter that is situated on one of this world's choicest morsels."

UNPLEASANT REALITY

The history of conquerors showed none ever stopped until forced to do so. If Canada ignored her responsibilities today, the world would be up in a world of unpleasant reality. "I am not sure that victory can be won at this late hour. We will know vastly more in a month from now and I prophesy that in a year's time we will know all."

HI-Y RALLY IN WINNIPEG NOW AT END

WINNIPEG, April 11.—Youthful Canadian and American delegates in Winnipeg during the weekend to attend the fifth annual international Hi-Y conference, based on other far-westward Sunday, were closing service in the rounds of the Y. M. C. A. building.

For the past three days they were guests of the Winnipeg Young Men's Christian Association and the Winnipeg Alpha Beta Xi-Club.

The service, held immediately after a final luncheon for the visitors, included special music and an address by Judge F. A. Hamilton of the Juvenile court.

Judge Hamilton urged the young men to take the life and teachings of Jesus Christ as their future watchword and guide. Christ was the supreme embodiment of the ideal man, he told them.

The convention was formally declared at an event as a candle-burning continuous for several days to symbolize the spirit of friendship among conference members, was solemnly extinguished.

Official Greeters To Give Welcome To 1939 Tourists

CALGARY, April 11.—Official "tourist greeters," may hail tourists at main points of entry into Alberta this summer if a suggestion made at a tourist conference here today is adopted.

The suggestion grew out of a discussion between representatives of the Calgary Board of Trade, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Southern Alberta Development Board and Dan E. Campbell, Alberta publicist.

Methods whereby city organizations could co-operate with the Alberta government in promoting tourist travel in the province were discussed.

The Calgary Board of Trade will publish 10,000 tourist folders, the Junior Chamber will distribute posters, and the governments' public department will print 30,000 booklets and 15,000 road maps, according to present plans.

One Hundred Weddings Will Be Celebrated

MONTREAL, April 11.—One hundred weddings will be celebrated July 23 at Notre Dame Cathedral at the opening of the annual convention of the 100 Catholic Workers of Quebec. The couples, who will be given the apostolic benediction of Pope Pius XII by Mr. Georges Gauthier, Archbishop Coadjutor of Montreal, will be married by a different priest. More than 50,000 delegates from every section of the province are expected at the convention.

Roycrofters Plant Is Sold For $80,000

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 10.—Federal Judge John Knight today approved sale of the Roycrofters, Inc. incorporated arts and crafts colony of the late Elbert Hubbard at East Aurora, N.Y., to Samuel R. Glasco, Spencer, Ind., farm magazine publisher.

Guard said the East Aurora plant would produce "fine printing and beautiful books." The price was $80,000.

Roycrofters also operated metal crafts and furniture shop, but said he would concentrate at present on the printing and book-binding business.

Extraordinary Defence Precautions Put In Effect Malta Naval Island Base

VALETTA, Malta, April 11.—Extraordinary defence precautions were put into effect today in this island naval base, keystone of Great Britain's Mediterranean defence system.

Gas masks were distributed to civilians. British officers and seamen were called to report for duty by an emergency summons. The few foreigners residing on the island were advised to leave. Families of many British naval and army officers departed for England.

Most of the unusual precautions were not disclosed, but Malta is astride the sea route between the eastern and western sections of the Mediterranean where tensions have arisen since Italy's seizure of Albania.

Bristling with guns, the rocky island is only 30 miles from the southern tip of Italian Sicily. Ever since the 1935 crisis over Italy's invasion of Ethiopia, Britain has been putting Malta into fighting trim. Munitions and food stores are stored underground to preserve it in case of a long siege.

Hidden guns, electrically controlled sea mines and cleverly concealed machine-guns guard the island which is a base for land, sea and air forces.

Malta is 17 miles long and nine miles wide, but most of its harbor facilities, docks and airfields are concentrated at the southeastern corner. Its ring of forts are unimpressive to the casual observer, but below ground there are huge rooms and tunnels cut through solid rock. Defences are so arranged that Britain believes small handfuls of men could hold large areas of Malta's bays against anything except direct attack.

Woodtick Bites May Be Fatal So Coroners Warns

LILLOOET, B.C., April 11.—A warning that woodtick bites may be fatal was issued by Coroner A. W. A. Phair today after he performed an autopsy on the body of R. W. Macdonald who died of paralysis and poisoning four days after being bitten by a tick.

The death of the boy was the first in the district from woodtick bites. An Indian child died at nearby Coquitlam Creek Friday.

"Both deaths could have been avoided if the parents had known the symptoms of tick bites," Phair said. Woodticks are dangerous to humans in the spring of the year, he said, and children are most susceptible to their poison.

Japanese Admit No Easy Task In China

TOKYO, April 11.—Premier Kiichiro Hiranuma said today that Japan must expect to meet difficulties in the heart of the Balkans and in the heart of the Balkans is Hitler's torn again.

French government quarters believe that the slitting up of Yugoslavia is the likeliest objective of the axis nations and pressure, similar to that which resulted in the obliteration of Czechoslovakia, is being put to the applied against Prince Paul's government.

REVIVE CLAIMS

It is thought, however, that if Hitler is not anxious to be openly accused of agitation to split the Yugoslav kingdom he will be able to operate through Hungary with Budapest reviving claims for the return of Croatia to the crown of St. Stephen. As France has washed her hands of the Balkan states, direct there were not even any indirect parts involved, the fall of the Yugoslav kingdom is now planned in London in the hope that British Minister Neville Chamberlain is at last realizing the wisdom of Mr. Polaris.

French quarters said no surprise would be caused if England, should denounce the Anglo-Italian friendship pact. This would be regarded as a mere gesture and would not frighten Mussolini, who already has reaped all the advantages of the pact, including Britain's recognition of Italian aggression while he himself has broken most of its pledges such as his promise to reduce Italian military strength in Libya.

Two factors—Now that Mussolini has joined Hitler in his "Drang Nach Osten," two factors are now absolutely clear.

NATIONAL UNITY SERVED BEST BY ONTARIO, CLAIM

Preservation Of Provincial Financial Stability Is Pointed Out

LONDON, Ont., April 11.—In preserving the financial stability of Ontario, Premier Hepburn's liberal government has made the greatest possible contribution toward national unity in Canada, Hon. Eric Crerar, provincial minister of public welfare and municipal affairs, said here Monday.

"We have placed our provincial affairs in order," Mr. Crerar told the annual convention of the western Ontario Twentieth Century Liberal Association. "We have balanced our budget and reduced taxes. We have reduced municipal taxation and reduced municipal credit."

"We have given the people of Ontario confidence in government and in the ways of democracy. Ontario has been made by the efforts of this government and by the efforts of the government it will remain the cornerstone of this nation's credit. Can we serve the cause of national unity in any better way?"

Lunenburg Reports Largest Sea Catch

LUNENBURG, N.S., April 11.—Officials of Lunenburg Sea Products said today the largest fish catch ever took place at their pier here, when 17,000 lb. of fish were landed.

The seven, one of which made two trips, landed slightly more than 800,000 lb. of fish.

Whole or partial livelihood for 18,000 people is furnished by the silkworm in Japan.

B.C. Youth Back Mother Country In Event Of War

VANCOUVER, April 11.—The British Columbia Youth Congress, in its concluding session here last night, endorsed a declaration that "Canada should establish the right to determine her own foreign policy in all circumstances but should support Great Britain should the mother country enter a defensive military alliance to defend democracy and resist aggression."

The declaration, placed before the congress by the executive for consideration, was adopted after the end of a convocation which lasted through the Easter weekend.

After declaring international tension has eased, the newspaper said "War, it is recognized, is not inevitable. On the contrary it can be postponed indefinitely, provided we strengthen our defensive resources with sufficient peace and energy."

The Daily Telegraph (Conservative) said: "There is urgent necessity of a full and firm declaration to the House of Commons and to the world when parliament reassembles on Thursday—a declaration which cannot be misunderstood. Nothing in this crisis could be more fatal than indecision and doubt abroad. Only prompt and resolute action in going forward resolutely and unhesitatingly."

The Daily Herald, (Labor) declared: "Any attempt by an aggressive and ambitious power to secure a dominant position in the eastern Mediterranean must, in the future as in the past, be at once resisted and prevented. It is in the interests of peace that this be made clear at once to all concerned."

Hitler May Offer Italy Historic Albanian Crown

VIENNA, April 11.—Adolf Hitler may offer Italy the historic Albanian crown, now in the Vienna museum. It Albanians were part of the Italian empire.

The crown, a leather battle helmet surrounded by a goat's head, belonged to the Albanian warrior chief Skanderbeg. King Zog had frequently asked for the crown but Austria, and later Germany, refused to give it up.

The Plan to Stabilize Western Agriculture

The plan by which the Dominion Government proposes to help stabilize agriculture in western Canada is embodied in bills now before parliament. It was explained by Hon. J. G. Gardiner last week, and may be summarized as follows:

The plan will apply to the three prairie provinces and to British Columbia. The township is taken as the unit of construction with the measure average production.

The average yield of wheat in a township is taken as the standard by which to gauge yields of other crops.

An average bonus may be payable to a farmer on half the land he has under cultivation, whatever crops may be grown on the land.

To meet bonus payments, a charge of one per cent will be collected on all grain delivered to terminal elevators, the remainder of the cost to be borne by the Dominion treasury.

Before the first of December the Government may declare any year to be an "emergency year," thereby making average bonuses payable. To start the plan operating, the year 1938 is declared an emergency year, by one of the bills now before parliament.

In an emergency year a bonus of $1 per acre on half of his cultivated land will be paid to a farmer living in a township whose average yield is from 11 to 15 bushels per acre. If the average is from 16 to 20 bushels, the bonus will be $2 per acre. If the township average is 5 bushels or less the bonus will be $2.50 per acre.

These payments will be made in full if the average maximum yield of wheat from August to December is not more than 70 cents. The payments will be reduced 10 per cent for every cent the average price is in excess of 70 cents; no payments being made if the average price is 80 cents or more.

In a year of crop failure due to grasshoppers or drought, the full bonus rate of $2.50 per acre will be paid in townships where the average yield is five bushels or less, whatever the price may be and whether or not it has been declared to be an emergency year.

The bonus schedule is based on estimates made by the University of Saskatchewan that production costs run from $6 to $8 per acre. The minimum acreage cost guaranteed to the farmer, on the basis of the amount of wheat usually grown on a half-section farm, runs from $5 an acre to $8 an acre, according to the average yield in his township.

The farmer is also to be guaranteed an advance of 60 cents per bushel for wheat, Fort William basis, and to receive participation certificates entitling him to additional payments should the wheat be re-sold at a higher price.

The wheat board is to be continued, not to buy and sell wheat of the new crop, but to supervise the operation of the plan and to complete the present marketing year's operations.

"Under the worst conditions," it is calculated, the plan will not cost more than $30,000,000 a year, while in any ordinary year the cost will range from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000. The loss to the Government from buying the entire 1938 crop at the pegged price of 80 cents is placed at $48,000,000, while farm effort cost the Dominion $12,000,000 in addition.

Obviously one purpose of this plan is to ease the pressure for the maximum production of wheat, since the bonus is payable on cultivated land used for the growing of crops of all kinds, including grass and hay.

Encouragement is given to the operation of half-section and three-quarter-section farms, rather than larger wheat ranches, since the average bonus is limited to 200 acres per farmer.

It is said that had this plan been in operation in 1938, the farmer living in a township where the average yield was 15 bushels or less, and who farmed a half-section with the usual wheat acreage, would have received more from the 60 cents a bushel advance price plus the average bonus than he got from the 80 cent pegged price for his crop. The farmer with 400 acres under cultivation, in a township where the yield was 20 bushels or less, would also have fared better than he did.

The 60 cent advance, plus the average bonus, would guarantee the farmer a minimum return. Even if he harvested no wheat at all the acreage bonus would guarantee him some return.

A further calculation is that the farmer with 80 acres sown to wheat and living in an area with a 15 cent haulage charge to a terminal, would obtain an amount equal to 65 cents a bushel at his local elevator. If his crop yielded only 10 bushels to the acre he would get the equivalent of $1 a bushel.

It is stated as a matter of record that only in two years of the last 49 has the average price of wheat dropped below 60 cents. In each of the other 47 years the farmer would have got something from his participation certificates, in addition to the 60 cent advance obtained at the time of sale.

This is a broad scale plan, proposing sweeping changes in the method of dealing with the wheat problem. It is in fact the first attempt made to deal in a constructive way with the problem presented by the disappearance of the world market for practically limitless quantities of wheat. Hitherto Canada has only temporized with the changed situation, hoping that it would reverse and restore the old order of things.

Whether we like it or not, the fact is now apparent that the new order has come to stay indefinitely, and to be modified only gradually. The nations are not turning from economic darkness to light like converts at a revival, throwing down their tariff barriers and resuming trade on the same basis of former times. They are at best making grudging concessions here and there under pressure of adversity, and it is idle to hope for an early re-opening of the former great importing markets.

The present problem is not how to grow and sell as much wheat as the west used to produce and market profitably; that bootless conundrum may be left to puzzle-workers. The practical question is how the western farmer may be helped to maintain himself in a world that does not want and will not buy as much wheat as it did ten years ago.

Whatever defects may be found in the plan proposed to meet this changed set of circumstances, it is aimed in the right direction. The objective is to maintain the farm family, not to induce production of excess bushels of wheat. The maximum amount of wheat, the surplus beyond the needs of a serious and patient effort to work out a system under which the inevitable readjustment of western farming can be carried through successfully, with a minimum of hardship to the farmer and a not excessive cost to the general taxpayer.

Current Comment

The Lost Markets

On this matter of exporting to the populous lands, it happens that only a few days ago the United States Ministry of Agriculture, Secretary Wallace, had something to say. Mr. Wallace stated that the European market, which in the 1920's "took the products of 50,000,000 acres of American farm land," is "gone forever." It is "gone forever" from Canada, too, and the plight of western wheat-growers seems to prove it. Secretary Wallace says there are two possible ways of dealing with the situation. One is to find some markets for United States products in the New World. The other—the one on which he sets greater store—is to increase home consumption of a new price system.

Canadian statesmen may possibly have to come to a similar solution. It only the $900,000 on urban and agricultural relief in Canada were enabled to consume to the extent of their reasonable needs, the present problem of distributing the country's surplus would be solved in part.—Ottawa Citizen.

Poland

Great Britain and Poland, as a result of the visit to London of Polish Foreign Minister Colonel Joseph Beck, will enter into an agreement of a permanent and reciprocal character to replace the present temporary unilateral assurance given by the British government to the Polish government last week. The new agreement each country will render military assistance to the other "in the event of any threat, direct or indirect, to the independence of either." Prime Minister Chamberlain read his statement to the British House of Commons and explained that "the two governments have reached a complete agreement upon certain general principles"—the main one, of course, being that of the pledge of mutual assistance against any aggression. "A more precise definition of the various ways in which military assistance might arise would require further examination before a permanent agreement could be reached," he said in the final document, however, will preclude either government from making agreements with other powers which would be in the interest of consolidation of peace."

It is common knowledge that one of Poland's chief weaknesses is the uncertain reaction of some of her minorities. But it is surprising that Colonel Beck's agreement with Prime Minister Chamberlain suggests he does not anticipate trouble in this direction. The Polish Foreign Secretary, of course, for some time has had each of his long legs dangling in a different camp. But back of his hesitating policy, his temporary luke-warmness to France, his personal antagonism toward Communism, is the knowledge that Russia and Nazi Germany has created a new Poland. And this is the new Poland. Friendly relations have been maintained between Warsaw and Moscow as well as between Warsaw and Berlin. The treaty with Great Britain, therefore, may well be the turning point in European affairs.—Victoria Times.

Collective Security

A demand for "a policy of collective security" rolls lightly off the tongues of C.C.F. spokesmen in the House of Commons as they invoke a St. Nicholas League of Nations. The League is still intact. Friendly relations have been maintained between Warsaw and Moscow as well as between Warsaw and Berlin. The treaty with Great Britain, therefore, may well be the turning point in European affairs.—Victoria Times.

On March 30 Mr. S. J. Woodworth adopted on Hansard the foreign policy resolution placed before the House of Commons by the C.C.F. spokesman. "Canada must free herself from her present commitments (based upon the conception of a balance of power) and she must automatically involve her in a war to which another member of the Commonwealth is a party."

On the day following day the C.C.F. spokesman, Mr. M. J. Coldwell, said in the Commons: "Events have shown conclusively that the present government of Canada is not a party to a stand for democracy, but will take some stand for their own particular interests are involved or threatened."

According to these speakers, apparently, collective security begins by destroying the collective power of the British Empire by planting suspicion and mistrust in the minds of the Canadian people. Parliamentary Coldwell told the Commons the British people "must be made to realize that, unless and until they choose a government which is loyal to democratic principles and social justice, this country will not allow itself to be embroiled in a war fought to defend great economic interests."

The suggestion that one democracy might hold a club over another to make it the a political mark is about as far as the C.C.F. goes for democratic security. The argument does not warrant serious attention except as an example of the kind of arguments much of the talk about collective action.

The League of Nations was wrecked by the same spirit of mistrust. The C.C.F. spokesmen and others are trying to create toward Britain, yet it remains their phantom enemy. In Mr. Beck's statement, however, the League of Nations assistance should be the rebuilding of the League of Nations, based upon social and economic justice, and capable of standing up to the League of Nations to prevent Mr. Coldwell, Mr. Woodworth and Mr. MacInnis from going to Geneva, if they wish, or to Patagonia or Timbuctoo, and rebuilding a League of Nations to carry out their demands.

The suggestion that one democracy might hold a club over another to make it the a political mark is about as far as the C.C.F. goes for democratic security. The argument does not warrant serious attention except as an example of the kind of arguments much of the talk about collective action.

The League of Nations was wrecked by the same spirit of mistrust. The C.C.F. spokesmen and others are trying to create toward Britain, yet it remains their phantom enemy. In Mr. Beck's statement, however, the League of Nations assistance should be the rebuilding of the League of Nations, based upon social and economic justice, and capable of standing up to the League of Nations to prevent Mr. Coldwell, Mr. Woodworth and Mr. MacInnis from going to Geneva, if they wish, or to Patagonia or Timbuctoo, and rebuilding a League of Nations to carry out their demands.

The Passing Show

By J. R. COWIE

It was fitting for Mussolini to choose the anniversary of the Crusades as a scene of waiting, bombing planes and troops to invade and occupy the little kingdom of Albania. He had paved the way with the confidence of the nations that some of his nationals were not being treated kindly by the Albanians, and that his warships, bombing squadrons and legions were involved there to restore peace and order.

His conquest in Spain, aided by the non-intervention committee and the success of Hitler in Czechoslovakia, have whetted his desire for more. It means the end of the Anglo-Italian pact though that will be long to him. He had gained recognition for the rape of Ethiopia without fulfilling his promise to withdraw Italian troops from Spain. Now he will be in a position to threaten Yugoslavia from joining with the "Stop Hitler" democracies.

A pretty price Europe—and perhaps the whole world—will yet pay for that betrayal of democracy in Spain. There was the place where the march of the dictators could have been stopped, and should have been stopped, and it had got under way. Much blood will flow ere that cowardly error is purged.

Albania has undergone many changes of rule since she was part of the Turkish kingdom. It won its independence in the first Balkan War of 1913. A German prince, William of Wied, became its ruler. He was deposed and his government to end in 1917, but Italian rule was not to last long. In 1920 they set up a republic, but revolution broke out. King Zog, became ruler in 1928 as King Zog I. The search of King Zog for a wife with money was a source of revenue to the Italian king, as illustrated supplements. One of the day before his kingdom was invaded, an heir was born. Had this child been a girl, it would have been to do with the fixing the date for the Italian invasion. If it had, it failed, for Zog's queen with a child of influence, the Italian king, was in Tirana, the capital, after Zog led to lead his little army in his resistance.

Albania was a child of misfortune and flight. Will Zog Jr. become another source of Europe, will it be left to a blacksmith's son of the child of a petty Austrian official.

Wheat Policy

Editor, Bulletin: There are two points in that Bulletin report from Hansard, quoting Mr. J. G. Gardiner on "Wheat Policy" (issue of March 10) which struck this farmer reader as rather ambiguous. (1) "We intend to increase the acreage in encouraging the production of wheat to 35 bushels by putting into operation as many tractors as can possibly be operated on the farm lands in western Canada. If it cost 40¢ a bushel or if it cost 40¢ a bushel to grow the same amount of wheat, the farmer might have less cause for anxiety. But, being a fairly honest nation, as nations go, our debts might weigh all the heavier upon it. The only thing is to avoid debt just as it is humanly possible. Right, indeed, was said by the man who said that a man's real wealth consists of the things he can do without. By becoming exercised in the days of depression, we can do more for ourselves than we can in war but also we recover many a righteous life which has been lost. We have been from our eyes. This is the reason for the Lenin season of Communism, and its good results tend to even the least of the things of life. ROLLAND SOMMERVILLE.

When, 50 years ago, partly passion was at its height over the Rebellion, Louis Bell, some criticism was made of Lord Elgin in the British parliament because, in his official dispatches, he had failed to make any reference to the Montserrat. Lord Elgin, in a letter to Lord Grey, dated Montreal, April 11, 1840, Elgin wrote that he had received a letter from the Earl of Grey, pointing out the importance of the point of view, listening to the Tory opponents of the Liberal government. He pointed out that his silence in his official dispatches, defended the policy of his advisers, as he was bound to do, the opinion "would come back here and add fuel to the flame."

"I have been pleasantly abused," he told Grey, "but no one can say that I have done anything to justify the abuse." But it would have been worse if the Tory journals had been able to lay one finger on an opinion of Lord Elgin. 16 STUDENTS IN DISCUSSION AT CONVENTION

Victoria High Pupils Demonstrate Thinking For Themselves

Led by Dr. Alice V. Kellner, one of America's foremost educationists and specialists in the field of child development, 16 students of Victoria High School sat on the stage at McDougall auditorium Monday night, while more than 700 of the province's teachers watched, and discussed questions of importance to youth.

Preliminary to the discussion was the screening of a short version of the movie, "Captains Courageous," based on the story of the same title written by Rudyard Kipling, dealing with the adventures of the spoiled son of a rich family who, by a remarkable series of incidents, is shown a useful mode of life by the fishermen on the Newfoundland banks.

The students took their place on the platform immediately after the conclusion of the showing of the picture, and although hesitant at first, soon responded to the careful questioning of Dr. Kellner and were given their ideas on questions arising out of the plot of the picture.

DREW CONCLUSIONS
Skillfully led by Dr. Kellner, the students analyzed the various problems presented in the picture.

The Inquiring Reporter

In among the items of information concerning new spring styles there is the old question about what men are wearing and, as regards headgear, Mr. Average Male is in the current trend if he wears a felt hat, color optional.

Wondering what became of the peaked caps that used to adorn the male heads a few years back, The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter asked, "Do you think the cap will ever return to fashion as the favored type of headgear, only about one in a cap they wear the following answers:

CLAUDE TIPP, salesmanager: Caps will never return to the height of fashion. At least not in this city. They are warmer than hats, but everyone knows Edmonton is such a sunny place that heavy headgear is unnecessary.

HOWARD HODGSON, hat store manager: Hats seem to be selling well enough to keep going, but the demand for at least the next few years. Out of one hundred purchases of headgear, only about one is a cap. They are not worn as much as they used to be.

FRED BAASKE, clerk: I've been wearing a cap myself for a long time. I don't see the need for it. I don't see the need for it. I don't see the need for it.

Terry Pin's Tips On

It always rains the day after you wash your windows. Eyes are the windows of the soul, deep pools of mystery that reflect the shadows of the mind. For this reason, if you get down on your hands and knees and stare into your passenger's eyes, you're liable to get a painful of claws arched down your nose.

Windows are a great gift to civilization. It was very dull indeed when you couldn't peer in and spy on your neighbors.

A new development has been made in all-glass houses. The people who live in them have to sign leaves forbidding them to throw stones.

Dreaming too Much
Or too Little?

"What's the matter with me?" Susan worries. To dream about signs when a pump-out's more my style!"

Nothing's the matter so far, a psychologist would say. To dream sometimes of wild beasts means only that you have an untidy trait or two. Your untamed self finds a safety valve in your unconscious mind.

Or do you think you don't dream at all? Everybody dreams; your unconscious is always busy. To forget that you dream may mean you fear your secret emotions, repress them harshly.

Learn the truth about your real self, understand your dreams. Our 28 page booklet by a famous psychologist explains dreams, their meaning to you, your grail.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of The Meaning of Dreams to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Answer: Bunches of bananas at maturity hang from the trees with the individual "finger" pointing up, just the opposite of the way we usually see them displayed in stores.

NEXT: A deer that brought in his enemy's head!

LIVERPOOL, Eng., April 11—Proof that the recent amputation of a finger on his right hand is no handicap, Peter Kane, world flyweight boxing champion, gave Clistanase of Italy a drubbing in a 10-round bout here.

ROBERT AUSTRALIA, April 11—Peter Toogood, aged eight, is the latest recruit to the Hole-In-One Club. Using one of a special set of small clubs made for him, he played 110 yards from the hole and the ball rolled neatly into the cup.

LEGAL MEN

ARE DIVIDED

ON DEBT ACT

Fresh Sign-Ups By Farmers

On Mortgages May

Be Needed

Council are divided in their opinions as to whether the Limitations of Action bill enacted at the recently proposed legislative measure will require fresh sign-ups of farmers who mortgage companies in order to stand of mortgages.

Earlier when the mortgage companies signed up agreements with many farmers and the question of whether they are affected is concerning lawyers.

Council for the mortgage Loan

Association, R. D. Taylor, C. C., has expressed the opinion that a fresh signing was not necessary in view of the amendment passed in view of the house just promulgated.

A contrary opinion has been expressed in the office of legal quarters and one lawyer has said that he is advising clients to make a fresh signing in view of this measure.

Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of municipal affairs, who sponsored the bill in the house, has said that the question would be further studied.

Under agreements made last year, renewal rates on mortgages were reduced to six per cent, effective for five years and in some cases for ten years.

At the time the amendments were put through the legislature, the explanation was offered that the rates would expire after June 1, 1932, and that they would be necessary

while renewal was not necessary in the case of agreements expiring on that date. At the present time, agreements signed up last year were for five years, they would not expire before 1935.

DEBTS OUTLAWED

The new Limitations of Action act provides for debts created prior to June 1, 1930, but not before

June 1, 1932, unless in the interval an agreement is made between the debtor and creditor, or if the debtor wishes to pay the debt. Before commencing suit, the creditor must obtain a permit from the Debt Adjustment bill by striking out certain words refer-ing to contracts renewed before April

1, 1930. When this reference is removed, it was struck out, it was interpreted to mean that the act would apply to mortgage renewals arriving last year. Some have said that this amendment did not go far enough and that the act as amended has the effect of invalidating the 1930 renewal agreements.

This is the question over which learned counsel are pondering.

Dr. H. A. Lane, Northwest

United States will spend more on preparation for war during the next year than will be spent on education. Dr. H. A. Lane, of Edmonton, B. C., told the convention of the Alberta Teachers'

Association in the McCallum Hotel

last night Monday afternoon.

Dr. Lane is president of education at Northwestern University.

There is no definite program for building character for each child in the world today. The last, most advanced and fast rule is to build up the mind of the youth of the country, Dr. Lane said.

In the world today there is a rule by force, and threats of war, and poverty in the midst of plenty, less in faith and God, more in personal and national selfishness, crime, poverty and insanity and it touches us all for we lack character and integrity, the psychologist said.
